

Plywood Apartment

Gdansk, Poland

©Tom Kurek/Alicja T. Agency

Design: MAK Studio | Aleksandra Mierzwa & Wiktor Kurc

This small one bedroom apartment serves to Bartek and Maria and their two daughters as a seaside getaway from their busy London where they live. Maria comes from Gdansk and Bartek would spend every summer at the Baltic coast when he was a child so buying a second home in Gdansk 200 meters from the beach was an obvious choice. The owners had a quite a clear vision of what they after - Scandinavian simplicity with a touch of marine elements and eco friendly materials. The designers managed to combine these inspirations without including too obvious blue and marine touches. The floors and panelling on the walls and seats and furniture has a colour of a sandy beach. The green accents reminisce green parks and forest so typical for Polish coastline.