

White House In The Spring Edition
Legnica, Poland
©Igor Dziedzicki/Alicja T. Agency
stylist Anna Salak
designed by owner
area about 120 m2

Mariola and her family live in a small house in the south of Poland near Legnica. Mariola is a fan of the country house style and constantly searches pinterst for new inspirations that she smuggles into her interior. She likes the simplicity of rural life and her house is made for the household. White idyllic classic kitchen and an old table decorated with a chandelier made by Mariola of crystals. Together with Sławek, they are looking for original but inexpensive solutions. That is why there is a mix of Ikea furniture in their interior, but also copies from the flea markets. Some of the furniture needed renovation and Mariola does it herself. He loves to give items with history a new life, sometimes with colors, patterns or new knobs. There are a lot of chests of drawers, shop windows, and cabinets remade in this way. The decorations also smuggle in gems from flea markets, auction portals and second-hand items. The living room is decorated with a wallpaper with an idyllic floral pattern. Everyone's favorite place is the fireplace. There are also decorations inspired directly from Scandinavian country houses, such as decorative window frames, suspended wreaths, candlesticks or sliding doors to the pantry. The bedroom is decorated with a wall lined with old unplanned boards, which gives it idyllic and natural character. The whole is complemented by old family photos and dreambathers made by Mariola. In a small but functional bathroom there is also an old display cabinet converted to store cosmetics and bathroom textiles. The family likes to spend time in the garden that Mariola cares for. It has a herbarium, vegetables and flower beds with idyllic flowers. The garden is constantly developing and is a place for family events.